

SEPTEMBER

"Unidos Por la Prosperidad De Todos"

THE WINNER

For the first general meeting of the semester returning members caught up and met new members. They were split into teams and were challenged to create a paper airplane that will go the farthest. The winning team was team 4 with "The Winner" created by Chris Jimenez.

SUMMER PANEL

Members who interned at Glenair, Web Cor, Sandia National Laboratories, Northrop Grumman, Research on campus, and National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. They talked about their experiences, challenges they faced, and how they got their internship/ research position. Each panelist was able talked to general members one and one and answered more questions.

IU COLLEGE BOWL

In the spirit of the HENAAC Conference, we held our version of college bowl, where 6 teams represented different companies competed in two rounds. Songs such as Truth Hurts by Lizzo was used to incorporate our five pillars. The competition was a close call between NASA, Raytheon, and Northrop Grumman. In the end, Northrup Grumman earned 1st placed followed up by Raytheon, and NASA.

Over 300 students from 6th grade-12th grade attended the Young Men's Conference in which Anthony Rodriguez, Mathew Guzman, David Garcia, Gustavo Perez, Leandro Olmos, Erick Modesto and Sarah Pena hosted 2 successful workshops. In the workshops they talked about STEM topics and life as a first generation college students. In future we hope to host more workshops and show them more about STEM and do projects with them.

Message From the Vice President and President

During my second year on an Ingenieros Unidos trip to Yosemite, I remember the moment when we had reached the top of our hike. It had been quite a challenge and I held a sense of fear the entirety of the climb up, but I couldn't help but smile when we sat down to rest and everyone began to pull out their Hot Cheetos. It was this moment when I realized that I had found my familia. Like this experience for me, I hope Ingenieros Unidos continues to create a positive environment where our members are encouraged to step out of their comfort zone. I want to continue to support our members with the challenges they are faced with as they advance in their career. I want to make sure that everyone knows that even if it may not be a literal hike, we will continue to lift as we climb.

- Fatima Camino (2019-2020 Vice President)

As the mid-semester starts to approach, it is very inspiring how much the IU familia has done in the short amount of time. From watching new members leaving their comfort zones at an early point in their college career, to our older members striving to mentor and inspire those around them, the energy is unmatched. I'm excited to continue working with my familia to provide opportunities that showcase the unique and authentic leaders our future needs, here at IU.

- Luis Cardenas (2019-2020 President)

WORDS OF WISDOM

Being late doesn't mean Failure.
Maybe it means getting ready for a great launch.
